2003 was an exceptional vintage in the Sierra Foothills. A late heat spell (100+ in September) brought on early sugars, but cooling in late September gave us an October Harvest right on schedule. Sitting over the South Fork of the American River brought us the cool nights that we needed to slow ripening through the warm period. Bright aromas of blackberry and cassis provide an enticement to the ripe plum flavors. Rich and full-bodied, the wine is very supple, and finishes with lingering blackberry and sweet oak. Tasting great right now, this wine will add to any holiday fare and give enjoyment for another five years.
