This year's offering of our Redbird Canyon Red is a unique blend of Pinotage and Petite Sirah all grown on the estate of Vino Con Brio, Amorosa Vineyard.

Pinotage is a grape developed in South Africa in the 1920's. A cross between Pinot Noir and Cinsault (aka Hermitage) it was an effort to bring the characteristics of Pinot Noir to a variety that could be grown in a warmer climate. Rarely grown outside of South Africa the variety has remained in some obscurity, so much so that Vino Con Brio has the largest planting of Pinotage outside of South Africa at a mere 8 acres.

From the first enticing aromas you can tell that this is not Cab. Sauv., Merlot or any other familiar variety. Exotic spice (allspice and cinnamon), black pepper and hints of chocolate provide an entrance to the full jammy flavors. Rich and full bodied, the wine is very supple and finishes with lingering blackberry and sweet oak. Tasting great right now, this wine will add to any rich cuisine, wild game or BBQ fare and should age gracefully for another three years.
